

Opening a Child Care Center

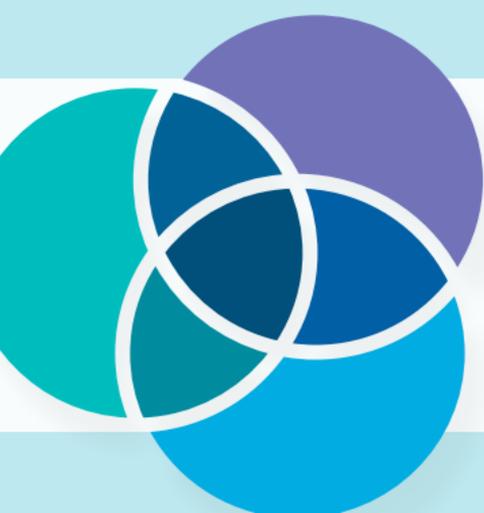

Child care programs are one of the most important businesses in our community. However, opening a child care program is a significant commitment that requires thought and planning.

Opening a child care program can feel overwhelming, between creating a start-up budget, writing a business plan, and assessing home readiness, but SC CCR&R Quality Coaches are experts at guiding providers through the process.

Our Quality Coaches use their years of industry experience to develop individualized training plans based on the actual needs of providers. They remain available as an ongoing resource throughout the life of the program, providing instruction and information on licensing, regulations, quality, and other important factors in running a successful child care program.

Additionally, SC CCR&R facilitates statewide conferences, coordinates Regional Child Care provider Networks, supplies connections to valuable resources, and offers guidance in the face of the many challenges found in the ECE industry.

More information about SC CCR&R is available online via our website (SC-CCRR.org), Facebook (facebook.com/SCCCRR), and Instagram (@SC.CCRR).
